

Supervision of schools hit due to staff crunch?

Though each of the 31 districts has a DEO, only 10 are regular, rest are acting DEOs

SADAF AMAN @ Hyderabad

A large number of vacant regular district education officers (DEO), deputy district education officers (DyDEO) and mandal education officers (MEO) posts in the State has resulted in a plethora of problems for the school education department, and particularly lack of supervision of schools by the authorities.

Though each of the 31 districts of the State has a DEO, only 10 are regular, the remaining ones are acting DEOs. In addition, all the 63 dy DEO posts lie vacant.

In 584 mandals, there are 539 MEO posts but only 36 regular MEOs are presently in the job. In the other mandals, headmasters are given the additional charge of MEOs. The headmasters, as a result, allege that they are unable to attend to their duties since they are always on inspection of schools and each headmaster is in-charge of at least 200 schools.

Chava Ravi, general secretary, United Teachers Federation said that lack of regular appointments is having a telling impact on the school education in the state. "The teaching community, therefore, is demanding regularisation of 21 DEO posts, along with one DEO per constituency.

Each mandal should have an MEO, which means government needs to sanction 45 additional posts along with the recruitment of regular MEOs in all 584 mandals. Overlooking the need for supervisory officials has resulted in the collapse of the education sector in the state," said the teacher and added that the filling up of the posts need to be done by way of promotion.

It was in 2005 that promotions had last happened. With the matter pending in the court, all promotions pertaining to teachers have been held in abeyance for more than a decade. "There is absenteeism, they don't teach and no schemes are properly implemented," T Susheel, another teacher said.

Judge buys water bottle amid hearing

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Hyderabad

A division bench of the High Court on Monday directed the authorities of the State's legal metrology department to inform it by Wednesday about the steps taken against the manufacturers of packaged drinking water bottles who failed to declare the name, phone number and address of the contact person/office on the water bottle for any consumer complaints.

Interestingly, during the course of hearing, chief justice TBN Radhakrishnan, in order to clear his doubt, called up one of his staff members and gave him money to get a water bottle from the court canteen. Accordingly, the person went and bought a water bottle. The CJ, after examining the bottle, directed the legal metrology authorities concerned to tell about the steps taken against the companies which failed to declare the above details on the water bottles.

The bench, comprising the CJ and justice V Ramasubramanian, passed the order on an appeal filed by the Telangana government against the order of a single judge who had allowed the petition of Himjal Beverages Pvt Ltd at Patancheru in Medak district who were dealing in bottled and packaged drinking water under the brand name 'Kinley'.

On April 24 this year, legal metrology authorities seized about one lakh water bottles for non-compliance of the required details. Challenging the same, the company moved the court contending that the authorities seized the bottles in an arbitrary manner. The said products were prepared, manufactured and packed by it with utmost care and precaution in conformity with law, including the Food Safety and Standards Act 2006, it contended. Finding fault with the action of the authorities, the single judge allowed the company's plea and directed immediate release of the seized bottles. Aggrieved by it, the authorities of food and civil supplies appealed to the bench.

When the matter came up for hearing on Monday, the government counsel said the seizure was made as per the guidelines prescribed under the Act. The CJ wanted to know about the details printed on the water bottle and immediately called up one of his staff members and gave him money to get a bottle from the court canteen.

After examining the label of the bottle (Bisleri) brought by his staffer, the CJ told the government counsel that there was only toll-free number which would be useful for the consumer to make a complaint, and no other details. Though some of them say that the bottle contains mineral water, it was only packaged water, he observed.

In reply, the government counsel said the authorities would take action even against Bisleri company. The bench has asked authorities to provide all details and posted the matter to Wednesday for further hearing.

Revanth files PIL on land for IKEA

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Hyderabad

CONGRESS leader and Konda ML A Revanth Reddy filed a PIL case challenging allotment of prime land ad-measuring 13.10 acres situated at Rayudurg Panmakta village in Serilingampally mandal, Ranga Reddy district, to IKEA India private limited, an international furniture company.

Revanth, in his PIL, alleged that the government has allotted the subject land without issue of any notification and invite tenders from the eligible bidders. There was a loss of about Rs 500 crore to the state exchequer due to the said allotment. The government has received only Rs 33 crore towards the subject land.

The land allotment was made on nomination basis and contrary to the law. Instead of allotting such a prime land to IT and its related companies, the government has allotted the same to a company involved only in furniture products, he noted and urged the court to intervene in the issue by declaring the allotment as illegal. The matter is expected to come up for hearing on Tuesday.

No advocate general still? Cong leader goes to HC

Hearing today The matter is expected to come up for hearing before a division bench on Tuesday

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Hyderabad

CONGRESS senior leader Marri Shashidhar Reddy has approached the High Court, questioning the non-appointment of state advocate-general by the Telangana government since March 26 this year when the post fell vacant following the resignation by D Prakash Reddy.

Reddy filed the PIL seeking directions to the state government authorities concerned to forthwith appoint advocate-general in accordance with Article 165.

He said the post of AG cannot be treated as that of a government servant because the AG holds the office to discharge constitutional functions. He is not controlled by the governor or the state government because while giving advice to the government on any legal matter referred to him, he is free to exercise his discretion though, according to law.

Under Article 177 he is conferred the right to audience before a state legislature both in the Assembly and the Council since he is treated on a par with the minister, he pointed out.

Reddy further submitted that the office of advocate-general is a public office. He not only has a right to address the Houses of Legislature but also is required to perform other statutory functions in terms of Section 302 of Code of Criminal Procedure, Section 92 of the Code of Civil Procedure and Section 23 of the Advocates Act.

Each of such functions by him is of great public importance. The state, as a litigant, can appoint as many lawyers as it pleases to defend it but cannot appoint more than one AG, he noted.
